The mission of Crime Survivors is to provide hope and healing to victims and survivors of crime through advocacy and the support of resources, information, and empowerment from the critical time after a crime occurs through the challenges and successes of surviving and thriving. All victims of crime have the right and responsibility to survive.

"Different people react differently to traumatic events like violent crime . Survivors may experience lasting effects, such as physical and emotional injuries that can manifest months and even years following the tragedy. Anniversary dates and news coverage of a traumatic incident can be triggering events that may contribute to re-traumatization. Post-traumatic stress reactions are common, and many benefit from counseling and other services. If you, your neighbor, friend or relative have been the victim of a violent crime, please reach out to the organizations listed within this guide and get the help needed to heal and recover."

District Attorney Erik Nasarenko,
Ventura County District Attorney's Office

"Providing comfort, support and resources for victims and survivors of crime is a critical component of an effective criminal justice system. Sheriff Bill Ayub,
Ventura County Sheriff's Office

"The Ellie Liston Crime Victims' Assistance Program assists people through what is often the worst period in their lives by helping victims navigate the criminal justice process. Our primary goals include reducing trauma and ensuring the sensitive treatment of crime victims, providing victims with a faster, more complete recovery from the effects of crime through crisis intervention and related support, and protecting the rights of victims. Services include helping victims obtain restitution, applying for Victim of Crime Compensation, restraining order assistance, and facilitating access to many other services which can help them cope with the trauma they have suffered. This guide provides a comprehensive listing of agencies and services that can assist survivors of violent crime and make a positive difference in their lives."

Constitutional Amendment 2008 California Victims' Bill of Rights

On November 4, 2008, the People of the State of California approved Proposition 9, the Victims' Bill of Rights Act of 2008: Marsy's Law. This measure amended the California Constitution to provide additional rights to victims. Victims can also request a Marsy's Law card, which contains specific sections of the Victims' Bill of Rights and resources. Crime victims may obtain additional information regarding Marsy's Law and local Victim Witness Assistance Center information by contacting the Attorney General's Victim Services Unit at 1-877-433-9069.

MARSY'S LAW

A victim is defined as a person who suffers direct or threatened physical, psychological, or financial harm as a result of the commission or attempted commission of a crime or delinquent act.

The term “victim” can also include:

- Spouse
- Parents
- Children
- Siblings
- Guardian
- A lawful representative of a crime victim who is deceased
- A minor
- Physically or psychologically incapacitated

If you are a victim of a crime, these rights apply to you. You may obtain information about these rights through your local victim/witness assistance program (usually located in the prosecutor’s office), your State Attorney General’s Office or U.S. Attorney’s Office.

Protect Yourself Against Further Harm

If your home was burglarized or if you had your wallet or purse stolen, you may feel the need to have your home checked before returning to it. Ask the police to check your home for you and to make sure that you can enter your home safely. You may want or need to have someone with you when you arrive home for a while, especially if your perpetrator isn't caught immediately.

It will be important for you to re-establish a sense of safety in your life again, which may not come easily at first. Some survivors of violent crime feel the need for security devices or weapons. Generally, the best protection you have is to be aware of your surroundings and what your “gut” is telling you. It is important to know what you feel comfortable with and what will help you to be and feel safe.

Short-Term Planning

You may feel bombarded with countless details and decisions in the aftermath of a violent encounter – and to make matters worse, you are probably in shock. It will take time to deal with everything, but here are a few suggestions for the short-term:

- Call your employer or have a friend call if you cannot return to work right away. Remember that you just survived a serious trauma and even if you weren't physically hurt, you may need some time away from work to cope.
- Notify your health insurance company or primary care provider so that you will be covered for your medical care and counseling needs. If you have lost a loved one, you or a friend should notify the life insurance company.
- Cancel your credit cards if they were stolen. This will hopefully prevent some headaches with your bills and can also lead to the apprehension of the person who may be using them.
- Learn about the investigation of your case from law enforcement. Ask them what they will be doing, what the process is, how you will be notified and anything else that you may want to know about the process of trying to find your perpetrator(s).
- Let family and friends know what has happened so that they can understand that you've been through a trauma and that you will need their support. It is often difficult for others to understand what living through such a trauma is like.

Crime & Trauma Scene Cleanup

If a crime has occurred in a residence which requires trauma scene cleanup there is help available for reimbursement of the costs. A victim's family can seek reimbursement several ways:

- Homeowners Insurance
- Renters Insurance
- Landlords insurance on residence
- State of California Victims of Crime Compensation Program

If you are a renter or a homeowner and you have a renter's or homowener's insurance policy, you should contact your insurance agent for information about possible coverage for work performed by a registered Trauma Scene Waste Management Practitioner.

A Trauma Scene Waste Management Practitioner is registered with the Department of Public Health and provides trauma scene clean-up services commercially.

When the crime occurs in a residence the Victims of Crime Compensation Program may reimburse any individual who voluntarily pays or assumes the obligation to pay the reasonable costs to clean the scene of the crime in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000). Services reimbursed must be performed by persons registered with the State Department of Public Health as trauma scene waste practitioners. If insurance is used and there is a deductible required the amount may be submitted for consideration of reimbursement. Replacement of property is not covered by this program.

- We believe that no one should feel abandoned or alone and that every person is deserving of love, respect, and dignity.
- We believe that all of us together can lift each other out of darkness and into the light of a restored heart and life.
- We believe that the best way to help others with hope and healing is to work in partnership with our community, law enforcement, elected leaders, and members of the media.
- We believe that every broken heart, every hurt, every wound can be healed with love and a strong community of support.
- We believe in hopeful healing.
- We believe that with faith there is always hope.

We are Here to Help!

Crime Survivors is committed to serving our community by being an advocate and resource for crime victims and their families. If you don't know where to turn, or are confused or frustrated with the public services that are available to you as you recover or seek justice, Crime Survivors can help. Our website will provide information, resources, and tools that will help you become a "Survivor."

Victims Advocate

Crime Survivors works in your community to make victims' rights a top priority. We facilitate communication and cooperation across various public service, government, and non-profit organizations to ensure that victims' rights are understood, and that the services victims are entitled to are received. If you think you are not receiving the assistance you should, please contact us.
